

Christina Cullivanos is the owner of a new consulting and event production company, CC Productions, specializing in experiential marketing, full-service event production, and logistics consulting. She also is the Events Coordinator for Easley Designs and was formally an Event Manager at the Hawaii Convention Center.

Christina's latest project will be taking her to Japan to work on the 2020 Olympics on behalf of Visa who is the main sponsor of the Olympics. Christina got her career started in the fast-paced experiential marketing industry of New York City for large corporate brands which gave her the opportunity to travel the country in purposes of product launches, mobile tours, marketing campaigns, and sponsorship activations.

Her areas of expertise lies in navigating complex logistics, paying close attention to detail, and executing large scale events. Now in Hawaii for 5 years, Christina is looking forward to growing her own brand and expanding the experiential marketing scene in Hawaii.
