

Liane Hu Okumura is the Communications and Public Relations Director at brand, marketing and communications firm Olomana Loomis ISC. She specializes in strategic communications, public and media relations, marketing communications, social media campaigns and content generation. Over the past decade, her clients have spanned industries including education, energy, health care, economic development, nonprofit services and public policy.

Liane earned her Accreditation in Public Relations (APR) in 2016 and currently serves as the PRSA Hawaii Accreditation Director.

An 'Iolani School alumna, Liane graduated summa cum laude from Boston University with degrees in public relations and English. She is a former board member of Ad 2 Honolulu.